

The houseplant trend is not stopping any time soon, but some houseplant enthusiasts cannot create the full indoor jungle experience because their furry friends come first. Our pets are curious creatures; they love to chew and play with anything dangling in front of them, so we thought we would help by providing a list of pet-safe houseplants. Read on to find the plants that will best suit your home and your furry friends.

Excessive consumption of any plant material may cause vomiting and gastrointestinal upset in dogs and cats, so even with the non-toxic houseplant species, be careful to put plants at heights that your animals cannot easily reach.

If you believe that your pet is ill or may have ingested a poisonous substance, or if you have any further questions regarding the information contained in this article, please contact your veterinarian.

*information resource www.aspc.org

Non-Toxic Plants To Cats & Dogs

Fittonia varieties

Peperomia varieties

Hoya carnosa varieties

Calathea varieties

Maranta varieties

Peperomia varieties

Toxic Plants To Cats & Dogs

Philodendron varieties

Sansevieria varieties

Philodendron varieties

Monstera varieties

Sansevieria varieties

Peace Lily varieties

Other Non-Toxic Plant Options

- Beaucarnea recurvata – Ponytail Palm
- Boston Fern
- Donkey's Tail
- Chamaedorea Palm
- Chlorophytum – Spider Plant
- Echeveria elegans
- Haworthia species
- Hen & Chicken Fern
- Hypoestes phyllostachya
- Kentia Palm
- Lithops
- Pilea
- Staghorn Fern
- Rabbit's Foot Fern

Other Toxic Plant Options

- Alocasia
- Aloe Vera
- Cycas – Sago Palm
- Dieffenbachia
- Dracaena
- Ivy
- Jade Plant
- Pothos
- Syngonium
- Yucca
- Zanzibar – ZZ Plant

Join up today!

Earn reward points every time you shop

- For every $100 spent, receive $5 off your next purchase
- Exclusive Gardener's Club only specials
- Discounts on our freshest new products
- Exclusive invitations to VIP only Oderings events, including our hugely popular in-store workshops
- Be the first to know about all of our latest news, fresh topics of interest, gardening inspiration and expert advice
- Easily track your points with the Gardener's Club app

Sign up today

oderingsgardenersclub.co.nz

Terms and conditions apply.

www.oderings.co.nz

Palmerston North | Havelock North
Napier | Christchurch

Pet-Safe Houseplants

